Faith & The Arts

What is the place of the arts — literature, poetry, art, music, theater — in the Christian life?

What is the relationship between the artistic impulse and the experience of faith?

What does it mean to be an Orthodox Christian artist?

The Faith & Learning Symposium provides Orthodox Christian college students from Boston-area colleges and universities the space to reflect on the relationship between their faith and lives as college students.

When
Saturday, February 23, 2013 9:30AM – 4PM

Morning
Panel of speakers, student-led discussions, group presentations

Afternoon
Discussion, poetry and prose readings by participants, art sharing

Contact Mike Tishel by Thursday, Feb. 21, to sign up to share your work: mtishel@hchc.edu

Where
Hellenic College Holy Cross
Library Reading Room
50 Goddard Avenue
Brookline, Massachusetts

For more information, see our website & Facebook group www.vocations.hchc.edu
(617) 850-1312