

Academic Program Reviews

Hellenic College reviews its academic programs on a regular cycle under institutional policies developed and implemented by the dean. Each review is conducted by the faculty member serving as program director and it includes evidence of student success and program effectiveness. The dean invites from other colleges and universities two to three professors with relevant expertise to visit campus as a team for two days to provide an external perspective on the effectiveness of the program review. The policies for the faculty program director and the visiting team of evaluators are available in the dean's office.
