DOGM 7020	Theology, Economy & Liturgy Trinitarian TI This course is an introduction to the Greek patristic theological synthesis with special attention to the Immanent Trinity and the Economic Trinity. An initial look at biblical sources will be followed by a study of select exegetical works by Athanasios, Gregory the Theologian, Basil the Great, and Cyril of Jerusalem. Also under consideration are the Divine Liturgies of St. Basil the Great and St. John Chrysostom (and other ancient eucharistic Anaphoras) along with the tradition of Baptism in the Trinity, which embody the ways theologia and oikonomia are applicable to existence. Patristic cosmology will be examined in light of relational ontology. Furthermore, the study of lex orandi and lex credendi will consider the rise of doxological theology. The remainder of the course will focus on the place of Trinitarian theology in ecclesiology and the importance of history and eschatology, with the following key topics: (1) a hermeneutics of Resurrection, (2) cataphatic and apophatic theology; (3) the distinction between ontology and epistemology, and (4) a study of Theologia and Oikonomia in science and art. INDS 5121	Tolkien: MythopoeiaMiddleEarth&Mod This course will focus on writings by J.R.R. Tolkien, exploring a number of themes: truth and fiction, the middle ages and modernity, mythology and theology. Tolkien himself was multifaceted: a soldier, a friend, a linguist, a translator, a professor, a husband, a father, and, of course, a writer, nurturing in all these roles a profound Christian faith. His writings possess an internal consistency and depth rooted in philology and ancient cosmology unmatched in the traditions of fantasy literature. This course will explore Tolkien's dynamic perspectives on the arts, ecology, work, virtue, war, anarchy, monarchy, local culture, and dragons. INDS 7050	MTS Integrative Academic Essay As part of the Master of Theological Studies Program at Holy Cross, students are required to write an Integrative Academic Essay that serves as a capstone to their theological education. The MTS Integrative Academic Essay gives students the opportunity to demonstrate their ability to integrate various sources of the Orthodox theological tradition in conversation with contemporary concerns. The essay is used as a learning tool, to assist students in synthesizing the various aspects of their theological education prior to graduation, and as an assessment tool, as evidence of the extent to which students have achieved the goals of the degree program, and the extent to which Holy Cross has met the goals it has set out for teaching and learning in the MTS program. Students submit their Integrative Academic Essay during the final semester of the MTS degree program. To facilitate the completion of the essay, students will register for the MTS Integrative Essay course during their final semester. Students must submit their essay to their academic advisor by November 15 for fall completers, and by April 15 for spring completers.	Dr. James C. Skedros		01/18/22 05/20/22		ADMIN -FACUL	1.50	10	5

PAST 6022	Theology of Pastoral Care II Theology of Pastoral Care II is intended to build upon Theology of Pastoral Care I by presenting a framework for understanding contemporary pastoral issues through the lens of Orthodox theology of the person, sickness, healing, and salvation. This class is not intended to provide you with the 'right' answers for pastoral decisions. Rather, this course is designed, through the readings, class discussions, and assignments to develop your understanding of Orthodox pastoral care and your thinking as an Orthodox Christian and future minister/pastor. The models of Orthodox Pastors/Saints explored in the first semester class serve as witnesses to the Orthodox pastoral care framework we will develop and discuss this semester as we explore contemporary pastoral issues, and secular theories and research. Particular attention will be placed on understanding how to access and integrate current secular knowledge into an Orthodox worldview to develop an appropriate pastoral response. Students will be invited to explore and discuss different dimensions of the pastoral care relationship and explore, independently and as a class, how one might address contemporary pastoral care issues. As in the first semester, particular emphasis will be placed on how we work together in the classroom, and on campus, as we develop an Orthodox understanding and approach to pastoral care. PAST 6601	Grief, Death, and Dying One cannot overstate the significance of death, and preparing for death, in understanding life and, particularly, life in Christ. Pastors and ministers are certain to be called upon to minister to those facing death and those grieving the loss of a loved one. In this course, students will develop a pastoral approach to the dying and those experiencing grief through a survey the existing literature on grief and bereavement in the context of the Orthodox theology of life after death. Students will explore the art and skill of ministering to the dying and the bereaved and develop their understanding of a theological framework for caring for the dying and the bereaved. Necessarily, this topic will touch upon our own personal experiences of loss and death, and students will be invited to explore how their own beliefs and experiences can inform and enhance their pastoral approach. PAST 7321	Creating a Missions Minded Parish In order to create a healthy vibrant parish, which implies being a "missions minded, outward-looking parish," we will begin by discussing the proper theology and ecclesiology of our Church, which requires a proper understanding of the role of martyria, witness, missions, outreach and missiology in the Church. The Church is the Body of Christ, not inward-turned but other-centered on God, His creation, and all His people throughout the world. We will evaluate the present reality of our Orthodox churches in America, and ask the question, 'How are we living out, or failing to live, this authentic theology of our Church?' This course will help develop a dynamic and vibrant vision for a parish to become healthy and 'missions minded.' This will include: 1) how to teach and equip the faithful in our churches, 2) how to reach out to the lapsed and unchurched Orthodox; 3) how to understand and reach out to the unchurched or none religious of America; 4) how to offer a witness to non-Orthodox Christians; 5) how to fulfill our 'apostolic' identity in a global outreach to the world at large. All of this will be discussed from the setting of an established parish, a dying parish in need of a "turnaround," as well as starting a new church from scratch. We will study dynamic parishes and ministries throughout the country and listen to guest speakers from some of these churches.	Rev. Luke A. PAST 7351	Missions And Evangelism This course will help one understand the central importance and role in the Church of witnessing our faith through missions and evangelism. The "spirit of missions" is central in our ecclesiology and Orthodox worldview and identity. The need for Christians and churches to continue the work of Christ, welcoming and reaching out to those outside our Christian faith is paramount. We need Churches which instill in its members the spirit to raise up, train and send out missionaries and witnesses locally, nationally and globally. This course will educate and inspire students to understand the central spirit of missions and evangelism in the Church. The first part of the course will focus on the lives, ministries and methods of some of the greatest Orthodox missionaries - the Apostle Paul and the early Christians, Cyril and Methodios, Innocent Veniaminov of Alaska, Nicholas Kasatkin of Japan - along with exemplar witnesses of the faith from last century like St Maria Skobtsova, St Tikhon (Bellavin) of Moscow, and St. Raphael (Hawaweeny) of Brooklyn, Sister Gavriilla Papayiannis, and contemporary missionaries like Archbishop Anastasios (Yannoulatos) of Albania and OCMC missionary Lynette Hoppe. The last third of the course will apply the studied missionary methods to evangelism in the contemporary American context. How should the Orthodox Church carry on this spirit of evangelism in its present reality in America?	Rev. Luke A. Veronis	T	01/18/22 05/20/22	06:40 PM 09:00 PM	CLASS -221	3.00	8	11

PATR 7022	StGregoryPalamas&theHesychasControv St Gregory Palamas (1296-1357) is best remembered for his teaching on deification, the vision of the uncreated light, and the distinction between God's transcendent essence and communicable divine energies. This course aims to help students better understand these concepts, and the debates surrounding them, as they were articulated in the fourteenth century. Emphasis is placed on the reading of primary sources, particularly the writings of Palamas himself, but also those of the saint's supporters and adversaries. The course introduces students to the history of the Palamite controversy, from its origins in the attack on hesychasm made by Barlaam of Calabria in 1338, through the tumultuous Civil War and ecclesiastical turmoil of the 1340's, to the final victory of Palamite theology in 1368. Attention will also be paid to the reception of Palamas and his legacy in the Orthodox Church, both in the period leading up to the fall of Constantinople and beyond. PATR 7030	Mystagogy: The Mystery of the Church Mystagogy is a word designating theological initiation into the mystery of the Church. Mystagogical catechesis emerged in the late fourth century with the work of Cyril of Jerusalem, Ambrose of Milan, and John Chrysostom, and reached its highest form in Dionysios the Areopagite and Maximos the Confessor. This course begins with a survey of early patristic mystagogical texts, after which the focus is on a close reading of On the Ecclesiastical Hierarchy of Dionysios, and the Mystagogy of Maximos the Confessor. Members of the seminar will participate in the spring Colloquium on the Mystagogy (April 28-30). Prerequisites: Biblical Greek I and II, Liturgical Greek.	V. Rev. PATR 7755	The Philokalia The Philokalia is a collection of Orthodox spiritual writings consisting of both extracts and whole works of thirty-six Church Fathers and ecclesiastical writers from the fourth through the fifteenth century. Compiled on Mount Athos in the eighteenth century, it was soon translated into Slavonic, after which a number of Russian translations appeared. It has exerted profound influence on modern Orthodox spirituality—in Russia from the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and in Western Europe and the United States especially from the 1950s—and is now generally recognized as a definitive expression of the ascetic and spiritual tradition of the Orthodox Church. Taking advantage of recent scholarly breakthroughs in the study of the Philokalia, this course begins by considering the collection's historical background, followed by a close reading (in English translation) of select works from the Philokalia, with special attention to the Prayer of the Heart.
